St. Thomas the Apostle

PATRON SAINT OF DOUBTERS, ARCHITECTS & THE BLIND

CatholicFaithStore.com

The background of the slide is a reproduction of the painting 'The Incredulity of Saint Thomas' by the Italian Baroque painter Caravaggio. The painting depicts the Resurrection, with Jesus Christ on the left, his torso open to show the wounds, and Saint Thomas on the right, doubting and touching Christ's side. Other figures are visible in the background, looking on with expressions of awe and skepticism. The lighting is dramatic, with strong highlights and deep shadows, emphasizing the physicality of the scene.

St Thomas the Apostle the Doubting Thomas

Struggles Tempt Us to Doubt

A person wearing a dark hood or mask is shown in a close-up, with their face mostly obscured. The background is a warm, yellowish-brown color. Overlaid on the right side of the image is a block of text in a serif font.

How do you deal with struggles, especially ones that turn into crises? How do you deal with daily stress and anxiety, problems and challenges, worries and failings? How do you deal with your own sins and even the sins of others? These, and many other aspects of our lives, can tempt us to turn from total trust in God and lead us to fall into doubt.

- St. Thomas doubted the resurrection of Jesus until he saw physical evidence. Did Thomas lack faith, or is this a normal reaction?
- Fr Vincent looks at the great mysteries of belief, doubt and truth.

A medium shot of Bishop Gene Robinson Barron, a middle-aged man with short, graying hair and glasses. He is wearing a black clerical shirt with a white tab collar and a black jacket. A long, thin chain with a large, ornate cross hangs around his neck. He is looking slightly upwards and to the right with a thoughtful expression. The background is a dark, out-of-focus interior.
